OUR APPROACH

We work with our participants, their families, caregiver and primary care physician to maintain personal independence.

Both centers offer the Adult Day Health Care program based on a medical model and the Adult Day Program based on a social model.

This person-centered approach focuses on delivering key essential health and wellness services focused on the needs of your family.

WHAT WE OFFER

For Participants

- Make weekly phone calls from our nurses and social workers to conduct wellness checks and determine if any need is emerging that should be addressed
- Initial, quarterly, and six month assessments of the participant to determine health status and adjustments in services provided
- Communicate and coordinate with participants' health care providers
- Respond to needs through targeted interventions
- Arrange for delivery or deliver supplies, including meals, essential supplies and activities packets
- Provide regular activities sessions via online offerings (Zoom, Facetime, etc.) to virtually engage the participant in activities with their peers

For Caregivers

- Caregiver support through regular calls
- Access to on-line support groups and trainings
- Staff accessibility for calls and concerns

ELIGIBILITY

Who We Serve

People with:

- Physical disabilities
- Chronic health conditions
- Cognitive difficulties
- Life-long physical impairments

Payment Options

Funding is available for individuals meeting the program criteria requirements who are MediCal eligible.

There may be other financial aid available.
