"Walk4ALZ is not just a walk, it's a community-driven celebration. 164,346 people in Orange County are affected by dementia or some form of memory loss, but when we all rally in support of them we remind those around us that they're not alone in their struggle and that there is hope," said AlzOC President and CEO, Jim McAleer.

Registration and parking for the walk is completely free for individuals and teams. Donations are welcome, but not required to attend. 100% of the money raised for the event stays in Orange County to help fund vital community-based services to provide local support, care and resources to Orange County residents affected by dementia and those that care for them.
